BY ATLANTIC CABLE

English News

London, Feb 19—Sir Chas Dilke addressed his constituents at Chelsea this afternoon. The meeting was crowded and at the outset was slightly disorderly. Ample precaution showed that every means was taken against trouble. The platform was raised so high it could not be scaled, the seats were nailed to the floor and the police on hand in force. The disorder soon subsided and the organization was completed. Sir Charles then delivered a long and powerful speech. He protested against the suppression of the free discussion of monarchical principles. He had attacked the monarchy because of the evils it engendered. Never did the rich less understand the necessities of the poor and should they continue to ignore them, grave results would follow. He warned his opponents to beware lest they push the people to extremes. Alluding to the relations of England and the United States, he attributed the present ill feeling to the ignorance which prevailed in aristocratic circles of American institutions. At the beginning and close of his speech the orator received an ovation of cheers. Sir Henry Hoare, colleague of Sir Charles in Parliament spoke in defense of the crown. He was frequently interrupted by the audience but no violence was attempted either by the liberals or conservatives

French Affairs

Paris Feb 19 —Geo H Baker the newly appointed Minister of the United States to Constantinople was yesterday presented to Thiers by Mr Washburne.

Thiers gave a state dinner last evening. Lord Lyons, Mr Washburne, Senor Olozaga, and Count Von Arnim were present

The Opinion Nationale asserts that a conspiracy has been discovered in which three Generals under the late Emperor are leaders. Their plan was to disperse the Assembly by force and take possession of the Government when they were to be supported by a large number of ex officers and soldiers of the Empire from the north. The Opinion says that in consequence of this revolution the Belgian frontier is carefully guarded and no one is permitted to pass into France without passports

A slight demonstration was made before the residence of the Duke Aumale on Sunday. The crowd uttered cries hostile to the Monarchy. Some threats were made said to have been incited by Bonapartists. The forthcoming manifesto of the Monarchists in the Assembly monopolizes the attention of deputies

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

San Francisco Feb 20 —Mr. Brower one of the blockaded passengers from New York died at the Lick House last night from the effects of exposure and fatigue during the blockade. His wife who came with him has charge of his remains

The Sacramento press publish column after column of letters of the trip which cannot be condensed sufficiently for telegraphic reports

The Board of Supervisors last night made an ineffectual effort to elect a Fire Commissioner. Mayor Alvord asking permission to retire Forbes was called to the chair, and immediately, without a motion or vote declared the Board adjourned for a week. The ruling was denounced as an ungentlemanly trick by some of the members and an intermission of ten minutes was agreed upon as a compromise. Forbes and five others left and there was no quorum. McCarthy then took the chair and sent the Sergeant at Arms to bring in the skedaddling members but he could only secure one, Mr Swain, and he refused to come to a decision. The Board adjourned. A resolution earlier in the evening was passed asking the Legislature to legalize the donation of the Industrial School Board and transfer of the management of that institution to the Supervisors

Wolf Hiome a farmer at South Beach claims $1 00 from the city for damages by the flooding of his premises through the bursting of a sewer

Over one hundred thousand letters came from the East yesterday and seven hundred bags of printed matter have been distributed already at the Postoffice. Two more mails are looked for to day

SHORT PARAGRAPHS

Alexander Stephens has told another joke. He speaks of Scott's Cabinet as "the thirty crew who have been running the Ship of State in South Carolina."

The Empress of Germany recently offered Alfred Tennyson the position of her Private Secretary. She has in the end of his engagement on the New York Ledger she thought he was hard up Parepa Rosa has taken out of a Dublin cloth factory a young Irish girl, named Dillon whose voice is said to be magnificent and has placed her under the best possible tuition. She is expected to become a prima donna.

A circular has been issued from the Internal Revenue Bureau calling the attention of distillers to the law prohibiting them from putting any foreign substance or coloring matter in liquors and thereby infringing up on the rights of rectifyers

A farmer in the vicinity of Augusta Maine made a trade twenty years ago with a furniture dealer in that place to bring him a barrel of apples for a lookingglass. Nothing was heard from the farmer until the other day, when a cart backed up to the store and a voice shouted "Here's yer apples"

A woman traveling on the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada had a ticket on which was printed "Good only for this train and the day received. Not good to stop over." But she did stop over and when she attempted to resume her journey, she was put off the cars. For this the railroad company has paid $1000 and costs

We learn from a Melbourne paper that a gentleman in an Australian town having spoken slurringly of the character of the younger Zavistowski the burlesque actress the elder called him to account and administered a vigorous flogging for which she was arrested and fined one shilling a punishment equivalent to saying "served him right." Some of the papers have leaders on the subject

Dr J W Dawson of the Geological Survey of Canada, has just published his report on the fossil land plants of the Devonian and Upper Silurian formations of Canada. In this report he has catalogued or described more than 120 species of land plants found in formations older than the carboniferous in Canada, thus placing the knowledge of this old flora in advance of that of any other portion of the world.

The great accuracy with which differences of longitude can be ascertained by the magnetic telegraph is illustrated by some of the determinations for the United States Coast Survey. Where the longitudes were estimated by four different circuits the greatest difference between any two determinations was twenty-eight thousandths of a second equivalent to about thirty feet the mean error being less than one millionth of the distance between the two objective points which in some cases, as in that between Cambridge and San Francisco was 3 560 miles

The Senate on the 'Alabama' Claims

On the 6th instant a debate took place in the Senate of the United States on the alleged intention of Great Britain to revoke the Washington Treaty. We copy from the telegraph report to the San Francisco press

Edmunds offered a resolution asking the President to send to the Senate any information in his possession relative to the alleged intention of Great Britain to revoke the treaty of Washington unless the claims of the United States shall be presented upon a principle and in a manner agreeable to the other party. He said it was extremely desirable to have this information. No one felt more deeply than he did the desirableness of peace between nations. The people of the United States had shown their desire for peace by submitting to arbitration claims which they felt ought not to be submitted to any tribunal but themselves. But the British Government and nation had full notice that a claim for consequential damages had been made. If they were now about to repudiate the treaty let us say Amen! and take care to enter into no more treaties with Powers who so easily break them. At the proper time we can take measures to vindicate our national honor and enforce our just claim

Trumbull thought the Senate should not adopt the resolution upon the mere report that Great Britain was going to repudiate a solemn treaty

Trumbull said that if the country wanted the treaty repudiated the best way to have it done would be to insult Great Britain by this resolution.

Edmunds said this was a mere ordinary resolution of inquiry into a matter that was now alleged to be under consideration by the Government of Great Britain that it would not necessarily require action on the part of Parliament at all

Cameron, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs thought the President had no such information as this called for. He had no idea that Great Britain would disgrace herself by repudiating the treaty

Edmunds, at Trumbull's suggestion, modified the resolution so as merely to ask information as to the intention of Great Britain in repudiating the treaty without mentioning the alleged reason. The resolution then went over till next day

Swamp Land Claims

The Salem Statesman is responsible for the subjoined

In response to an inquiry made by a subscriber in Coos county we yesterday visited the Swamp Lands Department and were introduced by the Swamp Land clerk to the mysteries thereof. After satisfying our proper inquiry we made other inquiries and got hold of certain humorous features of life under the Swamp Land Act. The most comprehensive claim yet filed was presented by the ex Senator over in Coll[illegible] three marine leagues at sea and described the State boundaries and a flat claim to all the swamp lands located therein. It is safe to call this a joke but there it is regularly on file and an undoubtedly creating quite a ferment. There is another joke currently told that being asked if he [illegible] all the lakes the jokist replied that his claim did not include the lake of fire and brimstone which he left to be taken by Hon [illegible] county and as that gentleman has just lately filed on a million acres, very likely he may be he has concluded to lay over on to the remaining lake. There is a story also that Ben Hayden et al filed a location for certain 2 000 acres over on the Rickreall and claimed same as swamp lands. This location tallied with the ex Senator's claim until when the clerk gentleman [illegible] Agent carefully read over the [illegible] those alligators to the statesman [illegible] feel on the swamps of the Rickreall [illegible] signed Ben Hayden et al to the lake of fire and brimstone aforesaid and locked [illegible] intended to file on Ben's underwear to school lands. This was another joke of course but that gentleman's jokes are apt to verge on satire and this one is just as good as if it was of record. These little incidents show that the Swamp Land Act is no dull affair as it serves to point a moral and adorn a tale

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

The English Premier Explains,

New York, Feb 20 —The following is a cable dispatch to the World, dated London Feb 19. In reply to a letter of inquiry addressed to him by me, Mr Gladstone has written a long letter explaining in an extremely amicable manner the present position of Her Majesty's Government concerning the Treaty of Washington, denying the utterance of the offensive passages in his recent speeches in the House of Commons as has been erroneously reported. In order to allay public excitement in England, I have furnished copies of Gladstone's letter to the press of London. It is now published in every journal of the kingdom, and is causing a profound sensation. In the House of Commons this evening Bouverie asked Gladstone if the letter addressed to the correspondent of the World was genuine. He replied "Yes" It is in reply to a letter asking explanations regarding my speech

Miscellaneous Eastern Dispatches

Chicago, Feb 20 —A Washington special says the foreign mail which left London on Saturday, February 1d, arrived to day. It did not bring the text of Granville's note in the shape of a friendly message to which the Queen alluded in her address to Parliament

The mail brought unofficial letters which indicate that the surface sentiment in Great Britain over the American case is not shared to any such degree by officials of the English Government. While fear is expressed by writers that the treaty will fail no one gives an opinion that war will grow out of the present situation. The feeling among officials is said to be quite general that the claim for indirect damages was put in by the United States to make a complete case, but with no hope that the Geneva Arbitrators would allow it

A Tribune's Washington special says that Chaffee of Colorado is working busily to gain support for his plan of consolidating Territories into States or with States already existing. He proposes to unite Colorado with Wyoming, Dakota with Nebraska, Utah with Nevada, Washington with Oregon, and Arizona with California. He proposes to leave New Mexico as a Territory, and Alaska as a province

A New York dispatch says that at the annual election of the Union Pacific Railroad next Saturday, Thomas A Scott is expected to retire from the Presidency and Horace F Clark will take his place with a Board of Directors composed of Vanderbilt's friends

Stanford, Judge Dover, Judge Breckinridge and others of standing and influence

New York News

New York, Feb 20 —The preliminary examination in the case of Stokes was continued to-day. Recorder Hackett was examined as to empaneling jurors. Others were examined, but no important testimony was elicited

San Francisco Feb 20 —The police have been for some days working to discover the perpetrators of the recent burglaries of stores along Kearney street and to day fixed the crime upon a German boy only 19 years of age, who appears to be only about half witted at best. The State Admission Convention.

Salt Lake, Feb 20 —In the State Admission Convention to day Tom Fitch read a long address in favor of Utah as a State. He said there was no safety for the Mormon people under a Territorial Government criticised the Federal Judiciary in language more vindictive than reasonable took a violent opposition course to Chief Justice McKean of which the conservative members of the Convention express strong disapproval, but finally denounced polygamy as being against the spirit of the age and in opposition to the moral sentiment of forty millions of people the system is doomed and must go down must be denounced before it could be a State. He advised Mormons to take the initiative and abolish the system. If it did not and persisted in the offensive practice the experience of Nauvoo might be experienced here

Elder Pratt spoke of the despotism of the United States. He said the Territorial government forced upon Utah was unconstitutional. Our Cheap Police

It appears by the report of the Board of Police Commissioners of the last year that the police force cost the tax payers of the city just $2,292 77. The remainder of the cost $8,034 56, was paid by fines and fees.—Herald

In another place the Herald says that the present expense of the police is a little over $11 000, that the fines and fees in the year amount to $10,000. This seems a considerable increase upon the sum of $2 292 77 which we are told was the cost in excess of fines and fees last year. The whole cost last year, according to the report of the Police Commissioners was $11 327 33. This is something less than the appropriation of $20 400 required for the police for the current year. The managers of the police force have in short, succeeded in very nearly doubling its expense for the current year. The expense to the tax payers will be quadrupled, because the fines and fees will not suffice to pay anything like so large a proportion of the expense as they paid last year. It was but a little while ago that the Herald was in great distress about a small, but perfectly legitimate, increase in the county expenditures for 1871, as compared with 1870. But it has nothing to say about this prodigious increase, this doubling of the expenses of our Democratic police force in a single year. That is, it has had nothing to say about it since it became the Commissioner's organ and Police Gazette. In justice to it however we must say that before this change took place articles did appear in its columns showing the rascally jobbery of police operations and pointing out the manner in which the city was swindled under the present police management.

Steamship Lines

A list of steamships and steamship companies now doing business between this country and Europe was published lately in the New York Commercial Advertiser. One hundred and twenty one vessels are now engaged in this work, under the control of thirteen companies. Nineteen new steamers are now on the stocks, and some half dozen more are projected. These are all first-class steamers, and most of the lines are constantly well patronized. Especially in summer there is a perfect flock of Americans on the wing between the United States and Europe. Last summer the Bremen line alone carried over five thousand first-class passengers in the four months from May to September. There are two noticeable facts about this subject of ocean travel. First the number of steamers has almost tripled since 1861. Eight lines were running then but the largest ran but ten steamers, while now the Cunard runs twenty and the Anchor twenty-nine. But still more noticeable is the fact that of all this passenger traffic not one iota of it is done under our flag. Indeed in only the Guion line are there enough American stockholders to influence the business. This is one of the newest companies. In all the others not even American money is engaged. They are all owned by foreign capital and run under English, German, French and Norwegian flags, indeed, under all colors but the stars and stripes. These facts show how completely, under the changed conditions of ship-building of late years, foreign countries have an advantage of us in the means of external commerce. But in railroad building, and in the development of immense internal resources and wealth we have a vast advantage over them all.

Grant and Renomination

Mr Sumner's opposition to Gen Grant does not seem very effective. That Senator some time ago proposed an amendment to the Constitution which, if adopted, would tend powerfully to prevent Gen Grant's renomination. But the proposed amendment makes no progress, and even in Massachusetts it appears to have little support. Senator Wilson the colleague of Sumner, has announced himself for Grant, and proposes to submit his own name as a candidate for Vice President on the ticket with him. The telegraph now announces that a Grant Club has been organized in Boston which embraces most of the leading Republicans of Massachusetts. Among those prominently connected with it are Washburn, present Governor of the State, Claflin, ex-Governor, and the entire delegation of the State in Congress. So striking a fact as the organization of this Club proves that Mr Sumner's opposition to Grant's renomination was little or no encouragement or support. It is more than probable that Grant will be renominated by acclamation. As to his re-election, there are so few chances to balance against the practical certainty of that event, that it is unnecessary to weigh them. In the discussion which has taken place relative to changing the Constitution as Mr Sumner proposes, the weight of argument and authority is decidedly in the negative. There is no danger that the people will elect a President for a second term who has not honestly and ably served the first. And if a President renders himself popular by an upright administration of one term, and the people wish to continue him for a second term, is it not as well to let them retain the constitutional right to do so?

The London Times on Catacazy.

On the 28th January the London Times had a long editorial on Catacazy, and summed up the case as follows

The whole story is perfectly intelligible as it stands. Catacazy got himself into trouble by his presumption in interfering with the negotiations between America and England, but his zeal, though unfortunate was so far acceptable to the Russian Government that he was upheld by his employers to the very last. Confident in this support, he confronted and provoked beyond endurance the Government to which he was accredited, and to the last moment pretended he was exempt from any censure at their hands. This was too much for Mr Fish, and he told the truth without disguise—a proceeding in which he was perfectly justified. Had it not been for the publication of Fish's memorable dispatch of November 16th, and the correspondence transmitted to the Senate, Catacazy's pretensions would have imposed upon the world, and the American Government would have been left to put up in silence with the affront it had received. That was not an agreeable prospect for the President and his Ministers so they turned the tables on the offender but in pursuance of their own reasonable and just decisions, and not as we can assure our Russian friends, through any suggestion of England.

The address to office-holders by a leading member of the National Republican Committee, advising them to stay away from the Philadelphia Convention will probably distress the Democracy a good deal, since that party has been hoping to have a chance to say, after the Convention, that Grant was renominated by office-holders. Yet we think there was little need of issuing the address inasmuch as office holders generally even if they desired to be in attendance, would see the propriety of staying away so as to give malignant criticism no chance to attack President Grant on their account.

The Arbitration at Geneva

It is a considerable time since the Treaty of Washington was published hence it may be well enough to state again how the Board of Arbitration on the Alabama claims is constituted. By the first article of the Treaty of Washington the President of the United States the Queen of England the King of Italy, the Emperor of Brazil and the President of the Swiss Republic, were each to name one Arbitrator. The Board is to consist of these five and the award of three of them is to be final. The United States and England were each to name agents or attorneys to present their case before the Board. We are represented by William M Evarts. England by Sir Roundell Palmer. These are to present the case of each Government as they receive instructions. The Board of Arbitrators are not to be governed by any instructions save only such rules as the treaty itself prescribes. It is upon the interpretation of the rules so prescribed that the difference of opinion which threatens a breaking up of the Conference Court has arisen. The Sacramento Union gives these particulars

The sixth article of the treaty says the Board shall be governed by three articles which are appended "and by such principles of international law as are not inconsistent therewith as the Arbitrators shall determine to have been applicable to the case." The first rule binds neutral Powers to use due diligence to prevent the fitting out of any vessel of war on its territory to operate against a belligerent with whom the neutral is at peace. The second forbids a neutral Power to allow belligerents to make use of its ports and waters for naval operations or for recruiting men or supplying itself with arms etc. The third obligates neutral Powers to use due diligence in their own ports and waters to prevent all persons from violating either of the two preceding rules. To these three rules there is added a paragraph declaring that while England cannot assent to foreign rules as a statement of the principles of international law which were in force at the time of the Alabama depredations," yet in order "to strengthen friendly relations between the two countries and provide for the future," it is agreed that "the arbitrators may assume that Her Majesty's Government had undertaken to act upon the principles put forth in these rules, and the contracting parties agree to be governed by these rules in the future, to bring them to the knowledge of the other maritime Powers and to invite them to accede to them."

From this statement it is argued that the assertion by England that she cannot consent to rules of international law is inconsistent. The Union says further

The majority, and not England, are to determine what is and was international law at the time of the fitting out of the Alabama and during the months in which she was being harbored, aided and abetted by England. The reasonable supposition is that a majority of the Board have asserted this prerogative both under the stipulations of treaty and the international code and that Evarts has thereupon, in a specific case, insisted upon some of those oblique, indirect or moral damages which were so ably stated by Senator Sumner in his great Alabama speech.

Her Joint High Commissioners were overreached by ours, and subscribed to and recommended the ratification of rules of arbitrament which appear fully to recognize England's accountability for all those "moral damages" so sententiously and alarmingly set forth by Senator Sumner. She can only extricate herself from the difficulty by violation of the treaty, which will leave it optional with the United States to prosecute her suit for damages, as the New York Herald suggests, "at the point of the bayonet." The Dominion presents a fair occasion for a bayonet charge at our own good time. We ... say with Greece or Ireland.

Great rejoicing is reported in San Francisco over the arrival of Eastern mails. The interval without mails was nearly five weeks. All that will be changed when the Northern Pacific Railroad gets into operation. Interruptions like this will vex us only three or four winters more.

President Thiers is not an ardent supporter of the doctrine of Republican simplicity and his eyes wander furtively in the direction of the palace of the Elysee.

THE TERRITORIES

A Farmers' Club has been organized at Seattle.

Hon R S Greene, Associate Justice of Washington Territory, preaches regularly on Sunday at Olympia.

A J Simmons, an old pioneer of Washington Territory, died suddenly on Cowlitz Prairie on the 12th, of heart disease. He had resided in the Territory since 1847.

A man named Henry Brown has been tried at Seattle for the murder of a Chinaman at that place last fall and sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

Chehalis river has been higher than it has been known for many years. All the bottoms are overflowed. Mails and passengers are, however sent over in boats without detention.

A dispatch from the Treasury Department gives information that plans and specifications for a revenue vessel to be built at Puget Sound were mailed at Washington on the 31st. They will doubtless reach here by the next steamer, and will be duly advertised.

The name of the man who was murdered on Whidby's Island, mention of which was made a few days ago, was Milton Herron. He was last seen alive on the 31st of January. His murderer shot him from behind while he was at work chopping in a small tree. His former partner, Daniel Dale has been arrested and charged with the crime. He had had some difficulty with Herron, and had been heard to threaten his life on several occasions.

The Olympia Courier says: The barkentine Free Trade, that was chartered and loaded with potatoes, apples and other vegetables by P Keach of Steilacoom, about two months ago for the Sandwich Islands, arrived at her destination with her cargo utterly ruined, except about ... hundred sacks of apples, the remainder having rotted during the voyage. She was sixty days out. She was, at last accounts, loading for Port Townsend.

All the land on the route of the Northern Pacific Railroad from the Columbia river to the line of British Columbia has been withdrawn from the market. This completes the withdrawal from the market to cash entries of the greatest portion of the lands in western Washington and only leaves a few townships in Pacific Chehalis and Clallam counties on the coast and straits. It also raises the price to pre emption settlers on even sections to double the amount per acre.

A man named A G Houghton was found dead at the foot of a flight of stone steps in the rear of Wells Fargo & Co's office at Boise City on the morning of the 12th. He was seen about eleven o'clock the night before, but nothing unusual was noticed. From appearances he went into the rear of this and the other building adjoining as far as the other building and fell over a truck and hurt his head for the reason that blood was found on the truck and his hat was found near the truck. He was partially deranged and had for some time been laboring under the hallucination that he was to be appointed Governor of Idaho. His age was 60 years.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The British Columbia Legislature is now in session.

Very encouraging news is received from the Omineca mines.

Stock is dying in many parts of the Island and also on the mainland.

The telegraphic cable across the straits to Victoria is still disabled and that town is cut off from electric communication with the outside world.

H M S Scout which sailed from Esquimalt for the scene of the reported wreck on the west coast of Vancouver's Island, was herself disabled and obliged to return.

It is expected that work will soon be commenced on the Graving Dock at Esquimalt. The Dominion Government executes this work at a cost of half a million dollars. Proposals were to be received till the 20th of the present month.

The Savage Strike

[illegible]

... In regard to the nature of the late strike in the 1400 foot level of the Savage. As no cutsel ... is as yet allowed in the mine nothing definite is known in regard to the extent or richness of the deposit found. While some assert that nothing more than a few little or a small streak has been found others declare that the new ore body is forty feet in width and that it assays ... $400 ... The latter ... the extent and value of which has not yet been ... until the developments ... of the new strike shall have been determined. It is not likely that outsiders will be permitted to visit and examine it. ... sanguine bull would make it appear ...

... says. A steady and tumultuous stock excitement ... overwhelmed this city. Long before the Board opened in San Francisco bulletins announcing the rapid quotations were put up in the windows of the brokers and soon every broker's office had its crowd. At length the reports of the sales in the Board began to arrive, and the crowds increased till the sidewalks were blockaded. The excitement which began with Savage, soon extended to other stocks. Speculation was seen in every eye and Mammon charged up and down the street like a stump tailed bovine in fly time. While some faces were wreathed in smiles others were cadaverous and rigid. Strong men stood before the bulletin boards, shaking like palsied old men. Powerful emotions so limited the eyes of some that they could not distinguish between 3 and 5 or 7 and a 9. In deep disgust those who had old short on Savage exclaimed—"we are too much bulled" while those who bought the day previous were "just as happy as the big sunflower." The man who knew it all day before yesterday, yesterday admitted his inferiority and went about inviting his friends to lick him. Ladies in passing the crowds about the bulletins lingered in gait in the hope of catching a stray quotation, and servants maids with all their earnings in stocks put babies in stoves and their unbaked loaves in cribs. Hotel waiters stopped to figure up their gains or losses on the bills of fare forgetful of the old gentleman who had ordered beef a la mode and in the restaurants such orders as "Savage rare, Ophir with onions," "Chollar and bacon," "Segregated stew," "Sierra Nevada soup, and Mutton chop, buyer 30" were to be heard. Before 9 o'clock in the evening, the police had led away to the station house five or six sore-headed bears that had met with the flowing bowl, and as many bulls that had tossed the dog that worried the wild cat.

The Gold Hill News has the following general resume of mining prospects in that vicinity:

The Crown Point mine is now looking better than ever before, with more and richer ore in sight. In fact, the more the great ore body is prospected and developed the more extensive it is found to be. It is estimated that between forty and fifty million dollars worth of ore is now in sight in the Crown Point and Belcher mines, constituting the richest and best ore body known in the world. The cross-cut at the 1 200 foot level of the Crown Point is now in 120 feet, all the way in rich ore and the full width of body not attained yet. The assays at that level average about $40 per ton. When the two new hoisting-engines are placed in working position and all other arrangements made to correspond an increased force of miners will be put to work and six hundred tons per day will be the regular product of the mine. The Belcher is in a similar flourishing condition, and being worked with great energy and efficiency. The ore body is found to continue south to an unknown extent, the main drift in that direction at the 1 100 foot level being in over 350 feet from the Crown Point line, and the face of it still in fine ore. The retimbering of the main shaft is nearly completed to the surface and the incline from its bottom is down nearly 200 feet, the face showing quartz with spots of ore. Good ore is reported to be found at the 1 400 foot level of the Savage mine south of the shaft. Whether it proves to be of any extent or not, it is a very important and encouraging indication at that depth. Three hundred and thirty-one tons of ore were extracted last week from this mine, of the average assay value of $35 36 per ton. The new strike, it is said, looks well, and promises to develop into a good sized body. Six hundred and ninety tons of ore was extracted from the Hale & Norcross mine last week. The Gould & Curry mine is yielding little ore at present, no new bodies being developed, although a great deal of prospecting is being done. The main shaft is 1 500 feet deep perpendicularly or 1 700 feet below the level of where the Sutro Tunnel proposes to intersect the road. The assessment of $15 per share just levied aggregates $72,000. The new shaft of the Ophir is 1 250 feet deep, and further sinking is discontinued at present. Drifting west for the ledge at the 1,100 foot level is being vigorously prosecuted, with excellent indications. The new shaft of the Overman Company is down over 300 feet, and at the surface a new and very powerful pumping engine is being put in position, which will be of capacity to work 2 000 feet in depth. The Caledonia new shaft is down 500 feet, and at 600 a drift will be run to the lead. The prospecting developments of the Dancy mine are energetically progressing, as usual. The company levied an assessment of 75 cents per share yesterday. In the shaft of the Julia mine a streak assaying $17 in gold and $60 in silver is found 126 feet below the surface. The company are still sinking, and at the depth of 1 100 feet will drift for their main vein.

Much has been said in the newspapers concerning the action of the Common Council in the matter of vacating G street at its intersection with the river. Perhaps it is worth while to remark that no information was submitted to that body in regard to the plans of the Railroad Company for the occupation and use of the ground. The Common Council was left in the dark on the subject and passed a general resolution that it would be inexpedient to close the street. Had specific information as to the plans and purposes of the Railroad Company been submitted, with specifications in regard to the position of the building to be erected and approaches to them, the whole subject could have been discussed with a clearer insight of its merits. We cannot speak from any personal knowledge as to the future course of the Council, but do not deem it impossible that, if explanations were submitted which would remove objections that have been urged the resolution passed at last meeting might be reconsidered.

A British expedition has been organized to search in Africa for Dr Livingstone. It is proposed to repair to the coast of Zanzibar and offer natives a sum of money to bring in a letter in the handwriting of the great traveler. In case that fails an armed expedition will start for the interior of the country. The expedition has been fitted out at large expense and will continue its efforts till the traveler is found or till proofs appear that he is dead.

Stockholders' Meeting.

A MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE Stars Hall Association, for the purpose of the purchase of Real Estate, will be held at the Hall, corner of Front and Alder streets, on Monday evening, February 26, 1872, at 7½ o'clock. By order of the Board of Directors.
WARD S. STEVENS, Secretary.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 21, 1872

CITY.

IMPROVEMENT OF THE COLUMBIA.—The surveys of the rapids of the Columbia river between Celilo and Wallula were made a few years ago by Lt. Heer under the orders of Col. Williamson and estimates for clearing them out were made upon such surveys; but they were so high—something near $200,000—that nothing was ever done about the matter. Lately, Major Robert has made an inspection of the rapids, and taking Lt. Heer's surveys, has estimated that practicable channels can be made for about $40,000. According to these estimates, it will require about $28,000 to remove what is called John Day Rock, one hundred and sixty-five feet long and one hundred feet wide. At Devil's Bend there are eleven rocks to be removed, and at Umatilla rapids four, estimated to cost $12,000. The work can be done in about four months time, after getting everything in readiness, and at the end of the job the engineers would have on hand machinery, tools, etc., to about the value of $10,000. All the estimates are in legal tenders. It is thought the expenditures above named would make good practicable channels through all the rapids, and Major Robert has made a recommendation in favor of appropriation for such purpose.

DAMAGE TO RAILROAD BRIDGES.—In regard to the damage done by the flood to the railroad bridges the Bulletin has the following: "The bridge over the Willamette river at Harrisburg was not injured so severely as was at first supposed, and the damage will be repaired by five o'clock this evening. The Santiam bridge at Jefferson has suffered more severely than the Harrisburg bridge, although not so great as was first reported. The gravel has washed out of one of the piers, and the south bank of the river has been washed away to a considerable extent, but a large force of workmen are employed in making the necessary repairs, which will be completed by [illegible] evening. The trains, in the mean time will not cross the bridge, but passengers will be [illegible] to another train at this point. The [illegible] is satisfied that trains could run over the bridge in perfect safety, but Mr. Thielsen, the Chief Engineer, deems it a matter of precaution not to do so for a couple of days, or until after he has fully completed the repairs."

PASSENGERS FOR CALIFORNIA.—The steamship Oriflamme sailed hence for San Francisco at 5 o'clock last evening. The following is a list of her passengers: Hon. P Wasserman, C H Lewis, Mrs M L Bourgocise and 2 children, J N Dribbelbis, C H Douglas, Chas Fishel, P Selling, L Bettman, Matthew Barrett, Dr DuBois, C Stevens and wife, F B Baker and wife, H Rosenfeld, H Smith, J W Case, J C Baldwin, G E Aiken, Sam Brown, J H Carr, B Goldsmith, Mrs Jelli[illegible] sister and 2 children, Joseph Smith, wife and 2 [illegible], C H Hall, I N Walter, David Siman, J K Gill, Samuel Williams, H H Burton, M E Watson, Jas B Maxwell, Mrs J S Macley, N W Hen[illegible], G B Walker, John Proctor, A McMaster, L A Tranberg, John R Foster, Mrs C H Brenham, W, F & Co's Messenger, and 25 in the steerage.

HAULED OUT FOR REPAIRS.—The railroad ferryboat got a considerable stove the other day by [illegible] too violently against the east side pontoon bridge, and the pontoon was stove badly also. Yesterday the ferryboat was at the bone-yard undergoing repairs, one end being sunk deep in the water with railroad iron, and the other hauled out to [illegible] the workmen to get at the keel upon which the rudder rests. The boat will probably be in service to-day again.

THE MAILS.—Yesterday most of the west side mail was sent by boat to Oregon City and thence via Dayton. The Southern mail was also sent by boat in care of the mail agent. It will be continued that way until regular communication is [illegible]. A large mail was dispatched by the Oriflamme for California and Eastern States. An [illegible] mail may be expected by the steamer Idaho. There has been no west side mails received for three days.

THE WALLAMET.—The river continues to swell. It rose five inches during Monday night and about that much yesterday. The current is less rapid than two or three days ago, caused, no doubt, by the high stage of water in the Columbia. During yesterday there were some huge trees carried down and some smaller drift, but not enough to interfere with the boats.

WHEAT SAMPLES FOR NEW YORK.—The steamer Oriflamme took away yesterday several sacks of wheat which are to be sent to New York as Oregon grain. They came from some place up the valley. We did not learn the name of the shipper.

FROM BELOW.—The steamer from Astoria arrived last evening, bringing no news except that two vessels were seen off the bar on Monday, names not made out. One of them is supposed to be the H. W. Almy, now due from San Francisco.

THE NEXT STEAMER.—It is stated at the N. P. T. Co's office that the steamship Idaho will sail from San Francisco on Saturday, next for this port.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

The trial of J. Hoppy is set for one o'clock this afternoon.

United States Court met yesterday, but transacted no business.

James Gill convicted of larceny will be sentenced this morning.

It is estimated that about $5,000 will repair the damage to the streets by the late rain storm.

We may reasonably look for an immense mail when the Idaho shall arrive—see dispatches.

Over a dozen cases yesterday morning in the Police court—drunks, disorderlys and fightingers.

The Columbia river is said to be higher now than ever before known at this time of the year.

A number of Good Templars of this city will go to Salem to-day to attend the State Temperance Convention.

We hear that there have been late earth-slides in the Canyon, filling up the road and stopping travel by wagon.

Uneasy rides the vessels at our city wharves. Eddies, under-currents, swelling surges, etc., are what's the matter.

The Portland Social Club will give their second party of the season at Armory Hall, Monday evening, March 4th.

The police reporter of the Bulletin objects to the pre-emption of seats on his desk at the court room. Some people are so particular.

Travel is so light now that hotel runners amuse themselves by fighting about who shall take a stranger in when one chances to come along.

The Bulletin is down on the Council because it gave $500 to the Library. We are down on it because it don't give $263 40 to light the town clock.

AMUSEMENTS.

BENEFIT CONCERT.—The Baptist church was very well filled last night, on the occasion of the concert-testimonial to Mr. George P. Newell. The performances were conducted under the direction of Mr. James B. Wyatt, Mr. Simon Harris being leader of the orchestra, Dr. Hatch, pianist, and Mr. DePrans organist. A full programme of instrumental and vocal performances was given, and the audience had really an excellent entertainment. The concert opened with an overture by Messrs. Harris, Bell, Bullard, Hegele and DePrans, followed by a chorus. Mrs. DePrans, Mrs. Corbett, and Messrs. Wyatt and Schuyler sang a fine quartette from Webber "Spirit of Love Divine." Mr. D. Nesfield sang "Perche Padoro," receiving much applause. A piano and organ duet, by Messrs. Hatch and DePrans was good. Mr. McCormick sang a ballad, and the first part closed with an anthem and chorus. The second part was even better than the first, consisting of the "Miserere," an instrumental quartette by Harris, Bell, Nesfield and DePrans; anthem from Morey, by full chorus; Duet, "Under the Beautiful Stars," by Mrs. Dalton and Mr. Morgan; Song, by Miss Lindsley; Quartette, "I Waited for the Lord," by Mrs. DePrans, Mrs. Corbett, and Messrs. Wyatt and Schuyler; Song, by Mr. Nesfield—"Yes, Love, When the Stars are Breathing," music, by DePrans, words by Rev. John Rosenburg; and closing with anthem—"Let Every Heart Rejoice and Sing"—by full chorus.

ANOTHER LECTURE COURSE.—The Young Men's Christian Association has arranged its third annual course of lectures, which will occur in the following order: Rev. D. K. Nesbit of Corvallis, March 5th; W. D. Hare, Esq., of Hillsboro, March 13th; Rev. Thomas Condon of Dalles, March 19th; S. C. Simpson of Salem, March 27th; Rev. S. H. Marsh, D.D., of Forest Grove, April 2d; and Rev. W. R. Stewart of Salem, April 9th. The entire course will be delivered at the new Masonic hall, corner of Third and Alder streets.

ORO FINO THEATER.—To-night "Rosedale" will be performed for the last time. It will be its ninth night—a success which has no precedent in the history of dramatics in Portland. The houses have been full every night. Perhaps there are but few theater-goers in the city who have not seen it; but if there are any, they should go to-night, by all means. After "Rosedale," the beautiful drama of "The Lancashire Lass" will be produced with new scenery, properties and stage effects.

WASHINGTON GUARD'S BALL.—The Washington Guard are making diligent preparations for their tenth anniversary ball, to take place on the the 22d. They are having the interior of their armory beautifully painted and decorated anew, and it is intended that it shall, on that occasion, be fitted up more showily and handsomely than ever before. In this matter and others, to make the ball entirely a success, the company is sparing neither pains nor expense.

SOCIABLE.—The Sociable at the Presbyterian Church this evening, judging from those who are most active in getting it up, will be of the pleasantest character, and we doubt not but all attending will pass a delightful evening.

Four Millions of Invalids.

At the lowest computation there are never less than four millions of invalids in the United States. Of this number probably more than three-fifths have neglected the ordinary precautions necessary for the preservation of health, and are suffering the punishment due to their carelessness. If the multitudes who are now afflicted with biliousness, indigestion, rheumatism, intermittent fever, irregularity of the bowels, general debility, nervous disorders, &c., had, at the very first symptoms of indisposition, invigorated, regulated and purified their systems with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, two-thirds of them would at this moment be performing the active duties of life, unannoyed by any ailment of the body or the mind.

This assertion is made advisedly. It is founded on experience, and is borne out by the testimony of a countless host of witnesses, whose attestations cover almost every variety of disease, and extend over a period of about twenty years. Of every thousand persons who take the Bitters as a preventive of the complaints above enumerated, seven-eighths escape them entirely; and of every thousand who are actually attacked, and use the great Vegetable Tonic as a remedy, three fourths are radically cured. These are not hap-hazard assertions, but statistical facts. They are based upon the results of inquiries made in more than fifty thousand persons in various parts of the country, and upon the letters of prominent citizens of every State, it might almost be said, of every county in the Union.

LITTLE HOMES!

WE HAVE OBTAINED MANY TESTIMONIALS, which appear in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN, for the purpose of answering once for all the many inquiries in relation to our "LITTLE HOMES." We desire to show to strangers, through men of known integrity in this community, that they are all we claim for them—cheap at present prices, and the speculation in them lies in the future growth of Portland, in the building of Railroads, and Bridges over the Willamette—which is merely a question of time—and in the fact that in less than one mile distant, City Blocks (200 feet square) are selling for from two to three thousand dollars, and in less than two-and-a-half miles (on a direct line) blocks are selling as high as $20,000 per block! Just think of it! 480 per acre for land, and 2½ miles distant, $200,000 per acre! New York city is over twenty miles in length and six miles wide, and many other cities in the United States are half that long, and quite as wide; and if Portland becomes a metropolis she will require this land for business purposes. Thirty years ago we could have purchased a section of land where the business portion of Chicago now stands for $10 per acre—$60 for a five acre tract. Thirty years ago we could have purchased the town site of Portland for a Cayuse pony—but we didn't have the pony! Twenty years ago a solitary individual, with neither money nor friends, found himself in Portland without a red. He purchased a basket "on tick," and filled it with oranges, on the same terms, and went to peddling. Twenty long, eventful years have since elapsed. Still that sturdy old pioneer has stuck to Portland, and worked his way through thick and thin; and now where do you think he is?—in the poor house, and owes for the basket! But to our

The land is level—some timbered and some nearly clear—its altitude about the same as Portland—good roads—never overflows, and the price is regulated by the quality of the soil and the distance from the city.

Coal Oil Characteristics.

A QUEER BATCH OF TELEGRAPHIC MESSAGES.

One evening in November, 1871, while occupying my accustomed corner in the telegraph office at Titusville, I jotted down upon my paper cuffs and shirt bosom a few of the messages that were going and coming over the wires, which I give below as a sample of the "inner life" with which an operator is familiar, omitting real names and dates.

"Shall I let a thousand go at twenty?" S. is the buyer and may want more."

"What is Brown's well doing at Parker's. Run up the yield all she will bear, and I will buy in Bennie's spot."

"Dear Theodore, come home quick—twins, market busted and futures tumbling—bring home a codfish for breakfast."

"Brown's well doing 1,100 barrels a day, by actual measurement, with tools, sand pump and a pair of bull-wheels in the hole. Is good for 2,500 as soon as she is cleaned out."

"The production reports for next month will show an increase of 6,000 barrels an hour; you can bet on that, for the reporters are 'fixed.' The Erie ring has got one, the 'bears' the other, while old 'Reliability' is owned by both, and will pull on either tug, as circumstances may warrant."

"Get me a slice of old Ghilson's farm before he hears of that strike near him; fix up the lease so the royalty will be paid at the end of the year. I will be in Europe then."

"You must strike a thousand barrel well at Brady's Bend. I am 'shorter' than piecrust, and have got to cover this week or never. Be sure and strike the well so far away that it can't be found for a day or two."

"Sell the oil to responsible parties only. Take no orders on Pittsburgh at any price. Spot cash, cash spot only in that direction."

"Twins! the thunder you say, and here I have two dry holes at Pithole and tools stuck at East Sandy. Good bye. Address me in Europe. I can't stand prosperity."

"Can't you increase the yield of that Pithole well again? Another star and grease will weaken so I can pay my board ahead."

"I am coming home if I can borrow a dollar. Our well is dryer than a powder-house. Take George out of college, cut off Susie's music lessons, and sell our wedding jewelry. The French cook and chambermaid will have to go, too."

"Eureka! I have struck it! One hundred barrels and increasing! Open a fresh can of peaches, and let the children have butter on their bread. Will be home Saturday with your diamonds. What is the size of Mrs. Lollipop's pin? I will lay over that in size if I don't accumulate a cent. Jenkins' well is as dry as a bone. Cut his family's acquaintance at once."

"I would call particular [illegible] to my system of reducing refined to c[illegible]. Won't you give me some hitch on Smith or his [illegible], that [illegible] crave slander, and I must satisfy them."

Death of a Pioneer.

Samuel Thompson, who was born in London in 1778, and settled near Monterey, Cal., in 1822, died a few days ago near Santa Cruz. The following sketch of him is interesting:

When he arrived at the age of fourteen he sailed from London as a cabin boy on board a merchantman, with the view of finding an elder brother named William, who had gone to sea some three years previous. For thirty years he sailed, visiting every ocean and sea, but his pursuit was vain. Wearied at last, he left his ship at Monterey in 1822. One day in the fall of 1824 he espied a ship anchored off Santa Cruz Mission and his desire for sea life returned. He accordingly made his way around the Bay of Monterey to Santa Cruz town, where among the men that were engaged in taking tallow and wheat on board the ship he found his brother William. Strange as it may seem, the two brothers, without a word of inquiry, greeted each other as brother, and was as certain of their relationship as after conversation proved. Since that time the two brothers lived constantly in the vicinity of Santa Cruz Mission, until the year 1859, when William, the elder, died. Since that period Samuel enjoyed the best of health until the last year, when he had occasional fits, in one of which, it is supposed he died. His account of the old missions was very interesting. The Fathers, he said, did not treat the Indians like human beings. The latter were huddled together in stable-like [illegible], bolted and barred from without at night time, and fed, in the earlier times, from troughs like animals; their food often consisting of [illegible] grain, which an ordinary horse would have refused to eat. The old man was very kind to the natives, and few, in earlier times, had greater influence among them; but [illegible] age had [illegible] to their [illegible] and [illegible] lands, and a few years ago he broke all connection with the people with whom he had lived for almost half a century, and was kindly cared for up the date of his death by Charles Martin, at whose home he died.

How the Jews Regard Christ.

[From "The Jews: What they are coming to," in January Galaxy.]

Of Christ the Jews have no uniform opinion. The radicals regard him very much as a good many Deists and Atheists have done before them—that is, they believe him to have been a great reformer or a religious enthusiast; and the New Testament they suppose to have been written long after his death, and to have been made up in part of material taken from the Old Testament, the "Love thy neighbor as thyself" being considered an illustration of this. In fact, whatever opinions they may have on this subject, they have formed by thinking for themselves over the writings of the great skeptics, just as many others have done who are not Jews; and this is the case as well with the most advanced of the conservatives, as we do At also with many of the least advanced of the orthodox. Of the last, however, a very considerable majority have expended no thought whatever on the matter. Their notions [illegible] the rag [illegible], and to some he is even veiled in mystery. What they know most clearly is his fate, and the persecution of themselves had their ancestors on account of it. They have a very peculiar sense for him. It is not often they have occasion to allude to him; but [illegible] they do they call him to-lui—the hanged one. He is rarely the subject of conversation among them. It would be a distasteful topic, and they would have no motive for bringing it up. There is, as I have said, no uniform sentiment entertained in regard to him; but one thing may nevertheless be safely asserted of the whole race: All repudiation that they will ever come to regard him as anything but a man and a son of man based on desire only.

The "Local Reporter" on Hamlet.

A writer in an English magazine presents what he conceives might have been a criticism of "Hamlet" by the local newspaper on the morning after its first appearance. We quote it as something curious:

The [illegible] has not departed from his time-honored, if not particularly honorable custom, of building his house upon foundations laid by others. Indeed we might almost say that he has rather refurnished an old Danish house than done much in the way of architecture. Every schoolboy knows the story on which "Hamlet" is founded. We shall not delay our readers by instituting a comparison between the ancient narrative of "Amlet" and the play which has been concocted therefrom; suffice it to say that Mr. Shakespeare, of whose faults timidity and respect for his predecessors are not two, (as his brother dramatists can certify,) has not, to our minds, made the fable more dramatic to our minds by his innovations, while he has certainly lost some strong points which seemed to lie patent to him. But a writer is sometimes the best judge of his own strength, and Mr. Shakespeare may have felt that his own style, with its conceit and prettiness, (to use his own words,) was fitted to illustrate a milder scene than the rough one whence he has not very adroitly hewn his ideas. The taste of the day, moreover, to which he prudently appeals, with a philosophical disregard to posterity, is so effeminate, that a fashionable play wright need not be hardly treated for seeking to please those who are too cynical to be awed, too self-satisfied to be instructed, too indolent to be elevated.

The bill which has passed the Senate, authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to call in all outstanding three-per-cents at the rate of $2,000,000 per month, while it accords with the Secretary's idea of contraction, is not favorably received, from the fact that it interferes with his plans. He already has authority for calling in three-per-cents, of which only about $17,000,000 are outstanding, and he desires to continue to do so in his own way, as a part of his financial plans. It is not thought the bill will pass in the House.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TUESDAY EVENING, Feb. 2?, 1872.

Gold in New York, 11[illegible].

Portland Legal Tender quotations, [illegible] buying and 91c selling.

The steamship Oriflamme cleared for San Francisco this afternoon.

The officers of the Dixie Thompson report two vessels off the Bar. Their names were not made out. No vessel inside the Bar when the Dixie left.

The steamship Idaho will leave San Francisco Saturday, Feb. 24th, bound up.

The steamship Idaho, on her up trip, will have probably not less than 1,000 tons, if she brings a large part of the freight for this place that arrived in San Francisco for our merchants from the Eastern States by steamer and sail around the Horn.

Telegraphic dispatches quote California Wheat in Liverpool at 12s 1d, being an advance of 1d.

The high water in the Willamette and its tributaries causes a very general dullness to prevail on Front street. The extent of damage done is not fully known, but had the volume of water increased as rapidly for the last twenty-four hours as on Sunday, the damage would have amounted to one or two millions of dollars directly, with heavy loss sustained indirectly by our business interests being temporarily sadly deranged. That the present high water will be of great future benefit no one can gainsay, for it gives to our railroad builders a better knowledge of grade required to avoid even a temporary suspension of travel.

It is claimed by many that those of our farmers who have last year's crop of Wheat unsold, are letting the best opportunity for selling pass. It requires from four to five months for a vessel dispatched from here to reach Liverpool or Cork. Wheat shipped from here after the [illegible] of March to the United Kingdom is necessarily affected in value by the English crop of cereals—the prospective crop. Harvesting, as a general thing, commences in England in the month of August, so that shipments to the United Kingdom made after March, reach destination when the new English Wheat begins to be marketed, provided they have favorable harvesting weather in England. Under these circumstances English orders on the market are few and light after this month, in consequence of which prices recede, as a comparison of prices paid by shippers—not millers—will convince all not interested. This season speculators are heavy losers in their estimates of the amount of Wheat that would be manufactured into Flour at home for export, as the subjoined table shows. At the commencement or soon after the harvest season commenced, there were many orders on the San Francisco market from China for Flour—much more than any previous season, and the reported short crop of Rice in China gave promise that the orders would be increased, but by examining the table below it will be seen that the increase for 1871-72 over 1870-71 only amounted to 45,513 bbls, when many supposed it would be fully 175,000 bbls, if not more, in excess of previous [illegible] for the same period of time. It was expected by many that not only the Flour exports would be increased but that the foreign demand would continue active, in which they have also been disappointed, for last mail advices received from China gave a dull market for Flour, with prices still drooping. It is safe to say that the China [illegible] which arrived in San Francisco on the 15th brought no different advices from the preceding steamer's advices for had she brought more encouraging advices to shippers, the market would undoubtedly show an improvement in that city ere this.

The exports from this port we gave on February 1st.

Produce Market.

WHEAT—Nothing coming in, and so far as we are advised no more has been offered for sale. Shippers do not offer over $1 82½ ⅌ cental sacked.

FLOUR—The steamship Oriflamme cleared to-day with 2,883 bbls, mostly standard brands. We quote extra of standard brands at $6 25 ⅌ bbl; choice country, $5 75@$6; superfine and outside brands, $5 25@5 75.

OATS—Stock large with market heavy. We quote California in jobbing lots at 2@2¼c ⅌ lb; Oregon, 2¼@2½c ⅌ lb sacked.

FEED—The interruption of communications causes a falling off in receipts, and [illegible] quently prices were firmer to-day for Bran at $25 ⅌ ton; Middlings, still, $35@45.

EGGS—Market firm with demand good. Telegraphic advices from San Francisco give market there at 25c. It is claimed that as soon as the railroad is again in working order prices will recede, and rule lower than at any time this year.

BAGS—Messrs. J. McCraken & Co. and Janion & Rhodes were advised by cable dispatch from England to hold standard size Gilroy at 17c.

OILS—Advices received from San Francisco give Downer's Coal at 60c ⅌ gallon in invoice lots. The rapid advance in this brand is probably in consequence of its being the only Coal Oil that stands the Government test.

SUGAR—The Alvarado Beet Sugar Factory of California, has nearly worked up its stock of Beets amounting to about 6,000 tons. Next season they expect to raise about 60,000 tons. The Sacramento Record says the Sacramento Beet Sugar Company have just finished working last year's crop of Beets. The product is 900 bbls of excellent refined Sugar. The season was a very bad one. The Company will cultivate 1,200 acres of Beets this year adjoining its manufactory, and expect to produce at least 10,000 bbls of Sugar the coming season—perhaps 11,000—besides several hundred barrels of excellent Molasses. The Beet Sugar industry can now be considered as successfully established in California.
